Oxerra's Granufin® pigments exhibit excellent flowability, allowing for their use in virtually any automatic dosing system available in the market.

These products are easy to disperse, achieving outstanding levels of color development. They are characterized by a well-specified particle size and are practically dust-free for use in sensitive working environments. Granufin® pigments can be utilized to avoid harmful dust clouds during processing.

OXERRA is the only granular pigment manufacturer with the capability to spray-dry globally across every major market. Our spray-dried granular pigments are available in primary and blended color shades that meet precise quality standards.

NOTE ON COLOR ACCURACY
The color chips represented here are as accurate as the printing process will allow, it may be slightly different from actual shades. This is for your reference ONLY. Please pay attention to the samples we send to you.
